This one is a no-brainer (hopefully!). Never pressure wash humans, pets or plants. The force of water coming from a pressure washer can cause physical harm—even penetrate skin—and will most certainly destroy your plants. When you are pressure washing appropriate surfaces, be sure to wear safety glasses to protect your eyes from debris.

Using the cleaning solution, start power washing at the bottom of the house and work your way up. Working from the top down can cause water and suds to run down the side of the house, making it more likely you'll miss a section. Spray in a horizontal, side-to-side motion. When spraying roof overhangs and gutters, always maintain a 45-degree angle.

How to Pressure Wash a House - The Home Depot

Spray first with a chemical or cleaning solution and let soak for 5 to ten minutes, then immediately rinse with clean water. Don't allow the cleaning solution to dry on the surface as it simply redeposits dirt you loosened initially. Spray it with an ordinary garden hose to keep it wet or moist while it's soaking.
